ELMORE SHERIFF BEFORE SUPREME COURT TO DEFEND SERIOUS CHARGES

Many Witnesses Testify on Opening Day of Trial of John Strength
CONTRACT IS LET FOR PRISON CONSTRUCTION
Dr. George Denny is Elected Trustee of the University of Alabama
(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily)
MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 26.—John Strength, sheriff of Elmore county, came before the Supreme court Wednesday in answer to charges of impeachment brought against him by the attorney-general's department under the direction of Governor Kilby and throughout the day heard witnesses testify that he had refused to enforce the prohibition laws in his county, etc.
The first day of the impeachment trial which the state forced in its effort to remove the sheriff from office was devoted entirely to the submission of testimony in support of the charges. Strength's day in court will come Thursday or Friday and his attorneys have announced that they are prepared to contradict much of the testimony of the state's witnesses. About eighty persons summoned to Montgomery by the sheriff answered to their names when the case was called. Many were character witnesses, but many are prepared to testify as to the manner of law enforcement in Elmore county.

Contract Let.
Announcement was made by the state board of control and economy today that a contract for the construction of the modern prison in Montgomery had been let to the Martin J. Lide Company of Birmingham and that work will be rushed until the buildings are completed. The company has filed its bond and beginning June 7 will station a resident engineer at Camp Sheridan, where he will remain until the prison is ready to be turned over to the state.
The buildings will be of reinforced concrete with a brick front, will be fire proof in all respects, will have steam heat and will be equipped with all modern facilities for ventilation in winter and summer. The building will be forty-five feet high from the ground to the eaves and will be surrounded by a wall of reinforced concrete twenty feet high. When completed it will accommodate one thousand and prisoners. The interior will have tiers of cells similar to those in the modern prisons of the north, the cells being arranged on upon the other, thus placing five cells in a small space.
The contracting engineer estimated that it will take twelve months to complete the work. Convict labor will be used extensively for all work which does not require skill. The state convict department is now drilling an artesian well on the premises, which will furnish pure water in sufficient quantity.
Bids have been asked by the board of control for the equipment for the prison and such of the materials as the state will be forced to purchase. Temporary barracks for the accommodation of the men needed in the construction work are now being erected and will be ready when the engineer arrives.

Dr. George H. Denny, president of the University of Alabama was re-elected by the unanimous vote of the board of trustees at the annual meeting held during the commencement exercises at the university Monday. This announcement was made by Governor Kilby today following his return from Tuscaloosa where he attended the meeting. Dr. Denny's nomination for positions in the faculty also were confirmed.
Osgood-Summers.
Miss Bernice Summers, assistant attorney-general of Alabama, surprised her friends Wednesday afternoon by becoming the bride of Prof. J. A. Osgood, a member of the faculty of one of the Montgomery schools. The civil ceremony was performed in the senate chamber at the state capitol, while a religious ceremony was performed at a local church later in the day. Prof. Osgood is a Canadian but has lived in Montgomery two years and has attracted attention throughout

PREDICTED VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IS TO BE GIVEN

PARIS, May 26.—There was every indication today that the Briand government would receive a vote of confidence before night when the chamber of deputies convened this afternoon.
Not only is the tension in parliamentary circles eased, but the whole international situation has cleared since Premier Briand's speech of Tuesday.

U. S. IMPATIENT.
WASHINGTON, May 26.—A marked impatience was evidenced in official quarters today over the delay of the Republic of Panama in answering the virtual ultimatum dispatched by Secretary of State Hughes on May 2, demanding that Panama end her boundary warfare with Costa Rica by accepting the White award. In that communication Secretary Hughes demanded that Panama notify this government of its intention of complying within a reasonable time. Hearing Continued.
Hearing of the petition of the American Railway Express Company for an order establishing routes and rates for through shipments on its lines and the lines of the new South-eastern Express Company was continued throughout Wednesday before the public service commission.
The old express company is insisting that routes and rates be established which will cause the movement of shipments over the shortest routes, while the new express company is contending that the old company is seeking an advantage and that the routes and rates should be left to discussions between the two companies and competition should not be restricted.

PRINCESS THEATRE FILLED TO CAPACITY AS CLASS OF THIRTY RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Graduates of Albany High Are Presented with Certificates Last Night
CHORUSES BY SCHOOL ARE GREATLY ENJOYED
Education Officials Occupy Seats of Honor on the Stage
The Princess Theatre was filled to capacity last night, when the graduates of the Albany High School received their diplomas, at the hands of B. L. Malone, chairman of the board of education. The principal address was made by Dr. James S. Thomas, of the state University. The girl's glee club rendered the first exercise of the attractive program, which was a song entitled "Pond Lilies." The invocation was by Dr. L. F. Goodwin, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church. "Four Leaf Clover," a song in which the singers said one leaf was for luck, one for faith, one for hope and the fourth for love, proved to be a very popular number. It immediately preceded the address by Dr. Thomas and was sung by the following young ladies: Misses Kate Frazier, Catherine Chunn, Earline Johnson, Virginia Almon, Mae Tisdale, Norma Chunn, Eula Nelson, Miss Jordan, director. In introducing this speaker Superintendent Cowart said that Dr. Thomas was a Virginian, and was well known throughout the South as an educator and religious leader. He stated that Dr. Thomas was the newly elected president of the Alabama State Sunday School Association. As Dr. Thomas arose to speak the crowd had filled in until there were not seats for all. The county board of education, the city board of education, and the city council of Albany occupied special seats during the exercises. The decorations consisted in magnolias and field daisies, arranged in becoming style.
Chorus by Entire School.
The entire program proved to be of unusual merit, especially the songs. The chorus: "When Grandmother dreams" was greatly enjoyed, and the work of the singers reflected credit upon their director Miss Connie Jordan. Another song by the girl's glee club was: "Moon Money." The final exercise was the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire assembly. Mr. Malone delivered the diplomas just before this song. He said that the people must come up to the help of the schools, and that the interest of the people was evidenced by their large attendance. He said that in the last seven years 13 new rooms had been added to the different schools. He said that a deficit of $9,000.00 existed that must be met, and advised that real soon the people would be given an opportunity to vote on the proposed new High Schools building. Mr. Malone said that while other cities had paid as high as 90 to 97 dollars per capita for schools that Albany had paid much less per capita. They said that that the attendance of the High School had increased 101 per cent in the last seven years.

Address By Dr. Thomas.
After a few introductory remarks, Dr. Thomas said that this country was perforce a commercial nation, but said that he hoped that character would not be put ahead of character and education. He deplored the fact that Southern education was not supported as well as the schools were supported in the north.
"Our agricultural life depends on the development of our technical sciences," said the speaker, and he urged the utmost care in building our agricultural schools. Under social welfare, the speaker said that we needed a program of adequate training.
Religious Life in State Schools.
Dr. Thomas said that the religious life should find its way into the state colleges, as not enough of the youths were attending the Church colleges, for the state to depend on church colleges alone for religious training. It was urged that the political life of the state should be encouraged. It was declared that the advent of women into politics would benefit. He deplored that teachers were so poorly paid, in view of the fact that they

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A break in the ranks of the marine strikers was threatened this afternoon. If the ship owners announce to Secretary of Labor Davis tomorrow their acceptance of the tentative agreement signed by Admiral Benson and representatives of the strikers last week, W. S. Brown, head of the marine engineers, will attempt to carry out the agreement and end the strike. T. B. Healy, of New York, and Earnest Pegg, representing the Pacific coast unions, have announced their opposition to the agreement and threatened to quit with their organizations.

FINANCIERS AND PRESIDENT TALK FOREIGN LOANS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 26.—A number of the most powerful financiers of the country, headed by J. Pierpont Morgan, were entertained at the White House last night and there was a full discussion with president Harding concerning the part American financial interests are to play in the flotation of foreign loans in this country.
It is understood that President Harding took occasion to acquaint the bankers present with the administration's attitude concerning the flotation of foreign loans.
This attitude, as decided upon at the cabinet meeting last week, is that the administration views with grave concern anything which smacks of "raids" on American financial markets by foreign countries. Foreign financing, according to the administration's attitude as far as revealed, is desirable at this time only if the proceeds thus derived are spent in this country in rehabilitating American industry now stagnant, in pushing American exports and in the liquidation of foreign obligations amounting to $10,000,000,000 which are owed to the United States.
It was argued by a number of the financiers that in view of the world economic situation, this country cannot help itself without helping Europe to a considerable degree and for that reason the government cannot be too narrow in its view on foreign financing.
There was one thing upon which all were agreed, and that was the general need for a return to normal business conditions, normal prices, wages and a readjustment of many war time make shifts.
LEGION SHOW AT PRINCESS TONIGHT
Preparations were complete this afternoon for the initial performance tonight at the Princess of "Katchy Koo", the musical extravaganza given by local talent for the benefit of the American Legion's home building fund. The second performance will be given Friday night.
Final rehearsals were held this afternoon and Miss Wandell, director for the John B. Rogers Producing company, announced that all details have been completed for the performance. The sale of tickets has been large and good crowds were anticipated on both nights.

Tasks Laid Aside; A Good Time Had By a Fine Bunch

About 250 members and friends of the Central Baptist church Bible class were entertained at a "cue" last evening in the grove on Riverside drive and Grant street. The fun begun at 6:15 p. m. and the way ram, lamb, sheep and mutton disappeared would have made a disreputable green with envy, to say nothing of the gallons of rich stew consumed. It was an event long to linger in the memory of man. Then, too, it is not often that a bank president, a town builder and others of equal prominence don the apron and serve their guests with the facility of the well trained. It was a great get-together meeting that would not have been complete had a single member of the party been absent—a crowd of joyous men gathered together in fellowship.
Members of the Albany-Decatur baseball club were guests of the class at the barbecue. J. P. Matlock is president of the class.

Local Fans See Columbia Contest
A large number of local fans were planning to go to Columbia today to see the opening game of the series in the Tennessee city. Etheridge or Russell is expected to twirl for the Twins. It is Etheridge's turn, but Manager McDuff may elect to send Russell back to the mound to permit him to seek revenge for his defeat Monday.

ANKLE INJURED
Jeff Eyster, who accompanied the Legion team to Mooresville yesterday, suffered a badly sprained ankle when he slid into second base. He was on crutches today.

MOSELY PITCHING AIR TIGHT BALL IS SUPPORTED WELL; COLUMBIA LOSES

Errorless Day for Twins When They Defeat the Mules 4 to 0
FAST DOUBLES HALT THREATENED RALLIES
Johnson's Two Pinch Hits Account for Two of the Local's Runs
With Mosely pitching air tight ball and his teammates giving him errorless support, the Twins had little difficulty in disposing of Columbia yesterday 4 to 0, taking the series on the local lot. The two teams moved on to Columbia early this morning for a three game series there.
By winning yesterday's game, while Sheffield was winning by a forfeit in Russellville, the Twins continued to top the league and all members of the club won ties offered by the Rahm Clothing company for taking the series from the Mules. McClain was presented with a hat by W. M. Bailey for making the first home run here.

Jam up Support
Mosely let the Mules down with five widely scattered hits. Mosely now has twirled 26 innings for the Twins and has allowed but one run in all of that time. He has pitched 18 consecutive scoreless innings.
Yesterday he was given the best of support, two fast double plays started by Lauderman at third shutting off threatened rallies.
Eaks continued to show up well at first and he got two more blows yesterday, one for three sacks.
The local's first run came in the second with two down. Lauderman hit to left center for three bases and scored on Johnson's single. Two more crossed the plate in the fourth. Big Jawn Cochran started the inning with a base on balls. McDuff sent him to second on a sacrifice. Lauderman struck out, but Johnson again brought his big bat into play and his second pinch broke to center sent Cochran scampering across the pan. When Whitt's return got away from Smith, Johnson went to second from where he counted on Mosely's single to center. Craddock walked, but McClain flew out to Whitt.
The local's last run was scored in the eighth. McDuff singled to right, Lauderman laid down a bunt, but Whitt muffed it up and both runners were safe. Johnson bunted perfectly to third and McDuff and Lauderman moved up a base. Mosely's long sacrifice fly to left scored McDuff and sent Lauderman to third.

POWER HAS NEVER PREVENTED WRATH FROM HAVING ITS INNING.

The way for an individual to protect himself and his property, is not to go armed to the teeth, and in other ways to make a show of power, but to live within the law himself and encouraging others to do likewise. What would seem true of individuals is also true of nations. With this in mind, the recent speech of President Harding in which he wishes America to be "so powerful that none will dare to provoke its wrath," seems to leave out a great deal and in addition to put emphasis in the wrong place.

Is it possible now, or was it ever possible for a nation to be so strong "that none will dare to provoke its wrath"? In the past, strength has never been a sufficient against insolence and attack.

The 5,000,000 men of Xerxes were not strong enough to prevent the Spartans from fighting them to a finish.

Our forefathers, only 3,000,000 strong, including women and children, attacked the mighty British Empire. If the Revolutionary fathers had not dared to attack a strong nation regardless of the consequences, Mr. Harding would not now have a great nation to preside over.

Today, not one strong nation but all nations are provoked by such a weak and starving nation as Russia. An Alabama boy is now said to be held a prisoner by the Bolshevik government of Russia, against all international law. Even should Mr. Harding succeed in making America the most heavily armed nation in the world, even if our military strength was greater than that of all the other nations combined, we would not then be immune from attack. The whole record of history is against the theory of Mr. Harding that a strong nation will not be provoked. As the size of his antagonist has little to do with the decision of a man who is considering a fight, neither has the size or strength of a nation much to do with the question of war or peace. The action of Ireland in taking up arms against the British nation is a case in point. Men and nations that have the courage of their convictions, reckon little on the physical strength of their opponents.

But especially do the words of Mr. Harding seem out of place in this present age, when force is not considered the measure of power. If he had been speaking for a wandering tribe of centuries ago, and had told his followers that strength was their dependence, the President would have been entirely right, but he was speaking for the most enlightened nation on the globe—one that has always put law and moral suasion above force and military armament. Mr. Harding's recipe for peace is old and discredited. If his ideas are to be this nation's guide in the future as to universal peace, the prospect is discouraging and disheartening. Our nation to be "so strong that none will dare provoke its wrath," forsooth! Why almost any kind of men do not mind provoking the wrath of even high heaven, much less of a government of mere men! Mr. Harding all but rattles a sword in its scabbard! He is right when he says in his speech, "it must not happen again," referring to the world war, but when he extols the virtue of being armed to the teeth as a preventative of war he is inviting the very thing that he says must not occur again!

President Wilson's plan to prevent war does not ignore the use of force, but in it, the place of force is not so prominent as in the plans of President Harding. Wilson believes in force under law, and used according to agreement and as the last resort. Mr. Harding seems to want to make other nations fear us, for the mighty army and navy we possess. The President in all likelihood did not intend to make a military speech, but the part quoted sounds very much like it. At any rate his expressed reliance upon might, with little or nothing said about "right," has created an unfavorable impression and has given alarm instead of comfort to those who desire to bring about world peace by peaceable means.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

The United States, after a long period of comparative carelessness as to the fate of our forest reserves, is at last awakening to the necessity for protection of our timber if we are to avert a lumber shortage in America.

The Daily is in receipt of a number of interesting articles on "Fire Prevention Week" and what it means to America, the articles being sent by the acting forest supervisor at Moulton.

The following information furnished by the supervisor shows how Alabama is losing heavily because of some one's carelessness in starting forest fire. The supervisor writes: "Since the first day of January 1921, there have been 20 fires on the Alabama National Forest, located in Lawrence and Winston counties, burning over 1260 acres of forest land and some 6,000 acres of privately owned land. The estimated damage to soil, young growth and timber will average 50 cents per acre for the entire acreage burned."

President Harding's resolution setting aside the current period as "Fire Prevention Week" follows:

WHEREAS, the destruction by forest fires in the United States involves an annual loss of approximately $20,000,000 and the devastation of approximately 12,500,000 acres of timber land and other natural resources, and

WHEREAS, the present deplorable large area of non-productive land is being greatly increased by 33,000 or more forest fires which occur each year, and

WHEREAS, the menace of a future timber shortage threatens to become a present economic fact seriously affecting our social and industrial welfare, and

WHEREAS, a large percentage of the forest fires causing the annual waste of natural resources may be prevented by increasing care and vigilance on the part of citizens:

THEREFORE, I, WARREN G. HARDING, President of the United States, do urge upon the Governors of the various states to designate and set apart the week of May 22-28, 1921, as Forest Protection Week, and to request all citizens of their states to plan for that week such educational and instructive exercises as shall bring before the people the serious and unhappy effects of the present unnecessary waste of Forest fires, and the need of their individual and collective efforts in conserving the natural resources of America.

IN WITNESS THEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of The United States of America to be affixed.

DONE in the District of Columbia, this 7th day of April, in the year of our Lord, One thousand, nine hundred and twenty-one and of the Independence of the United States of America the One hundred and forty-fifth.

WARREN G. HARDING.

By the President:

Charles E. Hughes,
Secretary of State.

Here in Alabama we have been too willing to accept forest fire prevention as something pertaining to the far west or some other remote section, but the Moulton supervisor's statement brings the problem nearer home. Within our own North Alabama we may have much to do with the success or failure of this great nation-wide effort to preserve the young timber of our country.

LOYALTY

You hear a good deal about "loyalty." You hear about loyalty to some cause. You hear about loyalty to the nation and to its flag.

You hear about loyalty to Christ. And, somehow, whenever loyalty is spoken of, you feel your inspiration rise, like the mercury on a warm day.

Everybody admires a loyal man or woman—the person whose fidelity is unquestioned—the person who holds as fast to the cause as it grapples by hooks of steel.

There are lots of things that need our loyalty. A man needs to be first loyal to himself, to his loved ones, to his friends, to his community and its interests. He needs to be loyal to those principles which make for the accomplishment of the highest ideals of life.

The man who knocks his home town and its institutions is not loyal—unless things are wrong and need the united condemnation of all, and reform. The chronic knocker is not the man who counts. It is the man who stands firm—he is the community and every worthy cause, and then beyond this, he needs to be loyal to his state, and nation—a loyalty of a wider sphere. But in being true to his own community, he is through this loyalty true to his state and nation.

Loyalty to the high ideals of life, makes him loyal in every sphere.—Troy Messenger.

WHAT IS ENOUGH

A newspaper asks its readers: "How much is enough?"

Well Tolstoy tells of a man who, having a small farm, was not happy until he acquired a larger one elsewhere. He was prospering there and when he heard that the Bashkirs, a tribe on the Russian steppes, were selling land cheaply, thither he went and was told for a certain sum he could have as much of the land as he could walk around from sunrise to sunset. If he failed to return to the starting point before sunset he would lose his money and his land.

Early next morning he began walking rapidly, taking along a hoe to mark the boundaries. He walked in a wide circuit, for he desired to take in as much land as possible. And his greed led him so far astray that he was still a long way from the starting point, when he observed the sun had set. He started to run in order to reach the goal before dark, lest he lose both money and the land. The last of the sun was disappearing under the horizon when he arrived breathless, at the starting point, and fell—dead.

And so Tolstoy concludes with ironic humor, the man's efforts net him just seven feet of land—a grave.

The figure of the man rushing to reach his goal before sunset typifies most of us in the folly of our discontent. He didn't know when he had enough. And how many of us do?

Few of us can answer the question satisfactorily. Many men pursue "Enough" to the end of their days and never catch up with it because they don't know when they find it.—Exchange.

A QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

Queen Mary of England is 55 years old today. It was eleven years ago last May 6 that she took her place on the throne as the queen of Great Britain and Ireland and the Empress of India.

She is the first queen consort of England since the reign of Henry VIII, to be a born and bred Englishwoman.

Queen Mary is typical of the common sense Englishwoman. She was reared in an atmosphere of gilded poverty, and never knew real wealth until her marriage to King George.

Great Britain's experience with a native queen has been a happy one. If the practice is continued, it may be possible to adopt the American policy of no foreign alliances.—Nashville Tennessean.

The Southern Baptist convention at Chattanooga recorded as a fact the statement that the average years pay of near 10,000 Baptist preachers in the South is below $500.00. Some of those preachers, those who get around $500.00, are bound to have a cabbage patch, a corn field, or a working knowledge of some good trade, if they are getting enough to eat and wear and are paying for the same. If money is a treasure to the Baptist brethren, their hearts are surely not in their work. What is said of Baptist preachers, may be said of the ministers of other Southern congregations.

In the Name of God Amen

"Having undertaken for the glory of God, and the advancement of the Christian Faith, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern part of Virginia—"

THIS reads the Mayflower Compact, signed by the Pilgrims on landing in America three hundred years ago. Our country was founded "for the glory of God and the advancement of the Christian faith." When our first Congress met it declared: "Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government, schools and the means of education shall be forever encouraged."

Our forefathers founded the first college in America because they "dreaded to leave an illiterate ministry to the churches when our present ministers shall lie in dust."

All elementary schools were distinctively Christian. The school house was built by the side of the meeting house. The minister was inspector of schools and chairman of the school committee. The text books in all the colonies were the New Testament, the Psalms, the Proverbs, the Sermon on the Mount.

And Now What?

Religion, God and the Christian faith have been excluded from many schools, and in some quarters the science of war has been put in. These schools may—and do—teach Hindu philosophy and pagan mythology, but forbid the Bible.

Under the materialistic influence of the past fifty years we have drifted far from Americanism. We have inclined to the path which led Prussia to ruin.

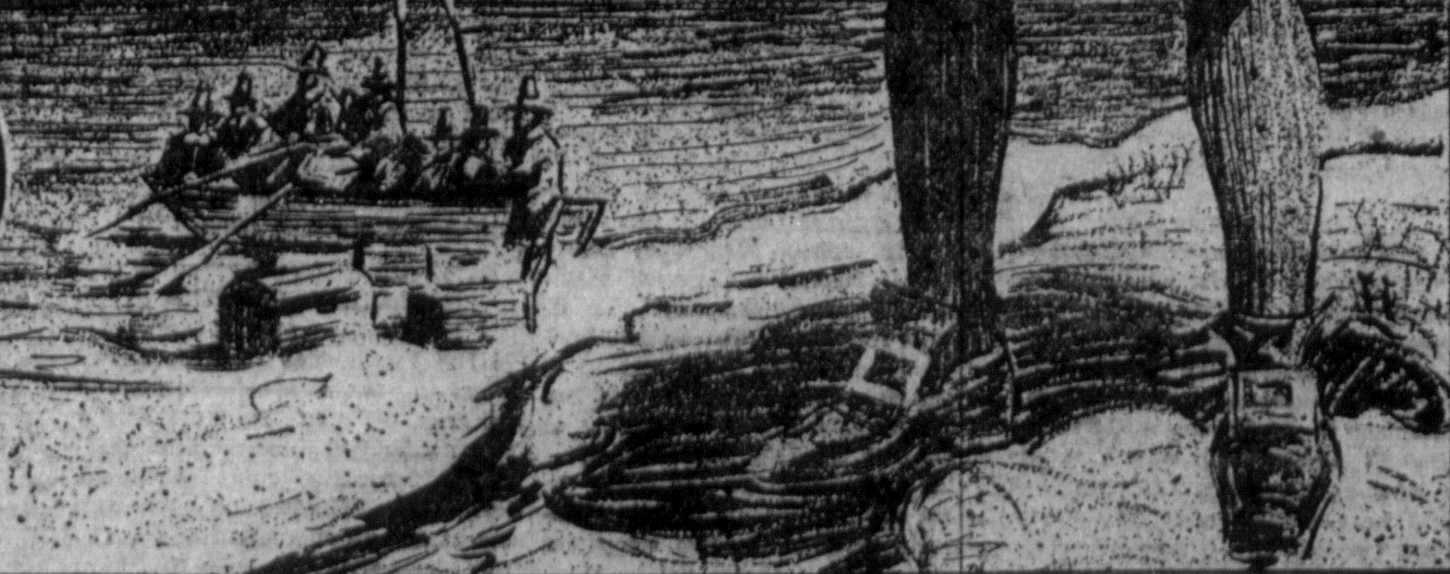

The Pilgrims Were Right

America should stand "for the glory of God and the advancement of the Christian faith." There is no other course of safety in this turbulent century. This is the program of the Christian Education Movement of the M. E. Church, South, with its policy of making education thoroughly Christian and maintaining the finest system of Christian colleges in America. The college inculcates the ideas that should rule in human affairs. The Christian Education Movement harks back to true Americanism—the Christian Religion, Christian Education, constitutional government and civil liberty.

For this cause a fund of $33,000,000 will be raised

Between May 28th and June 5th

As a patriotic, hundred per cent American, send a check to the pastor of any M. E. Church, South.

FIGHT HALTS GAME.

RUSSELLVILLE, May 26.—A fight between Umpire Clark and Manager Newton of the Russellville club terminated the Russellville-Sheffield game Wednesday in the ninth inning, with a local man on third and one out.

The score at the time was 10 to 10. The argument started when a Russellville man hit the ball with one, down in the ninth, and the umpire declared it foul. Manager Newton went to the center of the field and, after a few words, struck Clark in the face with his fist.

The fight ensued, after which Clark announced the game forfeited to Sheffield. Many of the visiting players declared the ball to be fair. The gate receipts are being held until the game is decided by the league president.

WOULD MIX LOVE AND LOGIC

Writer's Advice to Woman Desirous of Retaining Husband's Devotion After the Honeymoon.

Years ago a poet wrote of love as being "woman's whole existence." He must have known a lot about the feminine sex. Love and logic are at opposite poles of woman's world; and it is a fact that many a woman has lost a man's love through not allowing a little common sense in courtship and marriage, the mixing of love and logic as it were.

A girl may be adorable, but if she is forever making her lover appear "silly" in the eyes of the public, she is in danger of losing that man's love. Simply because a woman finds love and one man her whole existence, that is no reason why a man is going to find that true in regard to the woman he loves. There is a difference in the sexes in that respect. God made it so, and no woman need try to alter it. Lovers, married or otherwise, grow restive under restraint, and it is a wise woman who never puts up the "check rein."

One very clever woman whose life runs smoothly and happily after years of married life insisted at the beginning that one night in the week her husband would not be expected to come home until he chose to, come. She didn't ask him to drop all the friends he had before he married her. What was the result? He took the night off regularly, for a month, and pretended that he liked it. Then he started coming home on these "off nights." There were never any messages of "being detained at the office." His friends couldn't get him to stay in town, but they would go home with him, being sure of a smile and a warm welcome from his wife.—Philadelphia North American.

TOWN BUILT ON GREAT ROCK

Ancon, in Mexico, Surely Has Site Such as No Other Place on Earth Can Boast.

To live on top of a mushroom would be a peculiar sensation. If the mushroom were of gigantic proportions and were planted so as to overhang the sea, the experience would be very similar to that of living in the town of Ancon, which is three miles south of the Mesa Escuintada in Mexico, says the Christian Science Monitor. The strange mushroom-like rock on which the town stands is a splendid specimen of fantastic erosion, having overhanging sides nearly 400 feet high. The top of the rock is comparatively level, and is about 70 acres in extent. It is notched with dizzy chasms. The greater portion of it overhangs the sea like an immense mushroom, and the oddest thing is that it should have a town at the top.

Now, this town pertains to a past civilization. It is one of the most perfect specimens of the pre-historic Puebloan architecture. With inconceivable labor this town in the air was built and fortified for the safety of its inhabitants. It was reached by a mere trail of tree-branches up the stem of the mushroom. The age of the town is not known, but it was already old in 1540, when the first explorers visited it.

Heedless to Attack Mankind.

Dr. Rodi of the Italian Somaliland gives an account of lion and leopard bites in the Giornale di Medicina Militare. Many deaths occur annually—almost entirely among the indigenous—in which either one of the felines or the crocodile is accused. There is a notable difference between the wounds inflicted by the feline and the reptile in question, for the former, which attack lying victims only, inflict clean wounds. The crocodile, on the contrary, secretes its carcasses until they become decomposed.

In Benadir—the Italian Somaliland—the lion does not attack mankind by choice, preferring cattle and goats; but nevertheless the beast is greatly feared by the natives, who use reason in dealing with the leopard and crocodile, but are thrown into panic by the larger cat.

Memory and Instinct.

In the higher animals, we can see evidences of the possession of some faculty similar to human memory, which is made use of particularly by animal trainers. It is obvious that instinct alone would not enable these animals to perform such feats. While we cannot investigate the animal mind, as we do the human mind, we can judge of its processes by the outward signs and these point to the possession of what we may call animal memory. Some students of the subject deny that animals have imagination and assert their memory is only associative—something the animal sees, smells or hears, recalling a group of facts connected with it, and it being impossible for it to recall this group without some concrete suggestion.

Help! Help!

"Good advertising," says a man well up in that line, "benefits any form of business. The right sort of advertising gives you a friendly feeling toward a firm. It makes you believe that it will be both pleasant and profitable to deal with the advertiser. A certain grocer once inserted in the newspapers an advertisement that had this merit. It ran:

"Twins are come to me for the third time. This time a boy and a girl. I beseech my friends to support me stoutly."

Wanted Information.

Little David, four, had been unusually naughty and his mother threatened to put him to bed and "spank him in the bargain." After a moment's thought David exclaimed, "Mother, where's the bargain?"

Cotton Market Opening is Steady

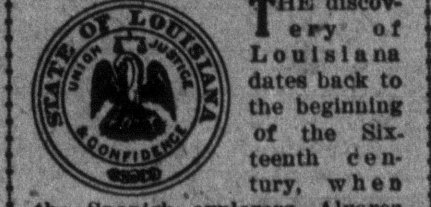

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 26.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 3 points. Business was evenly divided during the early dealing. New Orleans, Wall street and the trade buying, while some of the spot interests and Southern wire concerns were sellers.

Fine weather conditions in the belt offset a firmer stock market, but there was a continued disposition to even up short lines for over the holidays and in anticipation of bullish crop reports and the tone held quiet steady. One June notice was in circulation at the start.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XVIII.—LOUISIANA

THE discovery of Louisiana dates back to the beginning of the sixteenth century, when the Spanish explorers, Alvarez de Pineda and De Soto sailed up the Mississippi. In 1682 La Salle descended the Mississippi and took possession of the entire valley in the name of the French king, Louis XIV. In his honor this region was named Louisiana. French colonies soon sprang up, including New Orleans, which was founded in 1718.

An interesting chapter of Louisiana was the formation of the Company of the West by a financial schemer named John Law. This company ostensibly was to exploit the new colony and held out to speculators an alluring get-rich-quick scheme.

In 1763 France ceded Louisiana east of the Mississippi to England, and, by secret treaty, New Orleans and the western territory went to Spain. Spanish rule proved unendurable to the inhabitants and the restrictions on the navigation of the Mississippi led to hostilities between the northern American settlements and Spain. This situation, however, was brought to a peaceful termination by Spain relinquishing her rights to this territory to France and the purchase in 1803 by the United States from France of the entire Louisiana territory.

The southern portion of this acquisition was organized as the territory of Orleans and in 1812 was admitted as the eighteenth state of the Union, with an area of 48,506 square miles. As the Louisiana coat-of-arms has a pelican in its center, the state is often called the Pelican State. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

WEAR A POPPY.

In keeping with a newly-inaugurated custom, every American is urged to wear a red poppy on the national Memorial Day, May 30, as a mark of loyalty and respect for the memory of the boys who sacrificed their lives on the fields of France during the world war.

This is a beautiful custom, patriotic, idealistic and worthy in every respect.

It was in a moment of inspiration that the late Colonel John McCrea fixed forever in the mind of mankind the poppy as the sacrificial symbol of tender respect for those who died in the world war—as he did.

His noble poem, "In Flanders Fields," has achieved universal popularity; and the crimson flowers which nod between rows of crosses in the soldier cemeteries of northern France have been brought home to us as the appropriate token of the blood and the peaceful sleep of the heroes who gave all for civilization and human liberty.

Miss Nell Holt wore a brown organdy with touches of American beauty. Mrs. Fred M. Swift wore black lace and Mrs. D. A. Draper, a stylish frock of blue taffeta.

Mesdames S. F. Orr and H. L. Burleson invited the guests to the living room, likewise decorated in Dorothy Perkins roses—the table bearing a huge basket of pink roses, tied with tulle and silver candlesticks with pink tapers. Here the guests were served a delightful ice course carrying out the color scheme of pink and white, followed by coffee and mints. Mrs. Q. V. Griffin poured coffee. Those assisting in the dining room were Misses Grace and Clarie Sherill, Elizabeth Jackson, Sarah Stephenson and Mrs. A. Stephenson.

About 75 guests called between the hours of 4 and 6 to bid Mrs. Gill goodbye on her departure for Port au Prince, Haiti where she will join Lieut. Gill.

HEAVY VERDICT

PENSACOLA, FLA., May 25.—The heaviest verdict from a monetary standpoint ever rendered in state or federal courts here was given today when the Pensacola Maritime corporation was awarded a verdict of $55,167 against the Texas Oil Company, the allegation being a breach of contract.

ADMIRAL DIES

NORFOLK, VA., May 26.—Rear Admiral A. F. Fechteler, U. S. Navy, commander of the Fifth naval district since 1918 and former commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, died today at Hampton Roads after a long illness. He would have been placed upon the retired list in September.

Maple Is Much Used.

Makers of erouquet sets use more maple than any other wood; but the mallet heads of fine sets may be hickory, vine or teak; and the mallet handles may be of beech and birch as well as of maple, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. The balls wear out sooner than the other parts of the outfit. They gradually go to pieces by splitting, chips at a time.

Her Heartless Conduct.

We read in the World Outlook that Bishop Thoburn was once dictating a letter to a native Indian stenographer. "I am sore over the matter and chagrined," he said. When the stenographer brought back the letter to be signed the bishop was astonished to read: "I am sore over the matter, and she grinned."—Youth's Companion.

were charged with such great responsibilities. He said that more progress was being made in material wealth than in the training of men and women in true progress. He said we should not be concerned as to how we went from place to place, so much as we should be concerned about what kind of people were making trips. He said possession of wealth was not so important as the ability to develop ideals. Dr. Thomas said that the following Alabama cities had recently appropriated money for new High Schools: Dothan, Montgomery, Greenville, Anniston, Gadsden, Tuscaloosa and Birmingham. The speaker complimented his hearers on the fine showing their city made, and predicted a new high school would be the next enterprise undertaken. He said that the preparation for the children, should surpass that for the travel of automobiles. He referred to some of Morgan county boys who were working their way through college, and advised the graduates that their next mile stone was "college." He said that John Sparkman, of Morgan county now at the state University, has recently presented a "Loving cup" as "the one student who meant most to the life of the University." He said Mr. Sparkman was now President of the University. M. C. A.

Philosopher and Fool.

Colleges were said to develop philosophers but that fools made themselves. A philosopher was described as seeing wheat growing, and thinking of the co-operation of man and God in its making, while "a fool is a person who thought only of the money price of the same wheat. A philosopher admires the strength and beauty of a tree; while a fool calculates how much stove wood he can get out of it." It was declared that a man was wise who could see that good was good and bad was bad." The speaker admonished that as man came from God, he must also return to Him, and that no effort should be spread in the work of character building.

The graduating class was composed of: Harvey Bradshaw, Leon Evans, Earl Petty, Ras and Robert Garrison, Francis Tarpley, Elton Johnston, Warren Batten, Misses Bessie Finney Jessee, Kate Frazier, Thelma Chenault, Geannie Chenault, Mary Gargus, Bessie Cobb, Madeline Troup, John Bullard, Mary Harvey, May Tisdale, Mary Wiggins, Willie May Jacobs, Noma Chunn, Grace Widner, Claudia Pullias, Grace Poole, Ruth Poole, Eula May Nelson, Ruth Briscoe, Bernice McClure, Estelle Johnston, Lucile Reeves.

WILL NOT MEET

The meeting of the Albany city council announced through error for Thursday night, will not be held.

One-Handed Clock.

What is probably the oldest alarm clock in America, made in America, dates back to pre-Revolutionary times, and was made by Jonathan Wood of Philadelphia. The clock has but one hand, that telling the hours, which are in Roman numerals, separated into four sections, 15 minutes apart, so that it is possible to estimate the time within two or three minutes after a little practice. The time and alarm are both operated by weights.

Buy Your Coal Direct From Mine—Big Saving

The high cost of coal is a thing of the past! At least, there are no complaints on this account—since the removal of government restrictions—among those who have learned how to buy coal. The way to buy coal is to get it direct from the mines. This saves several middlemen's profits. It saves hauling expenses. Anyone can now buy at mine prices, whether a carload buyer or one who uses only ten or fifteen tons a year. This has been made possible through a plan evolved by a large and old-established concern. THE BERNICE COAL COMPANY, with main offices at 394 Como Building, Chicago.

This company has thousands of customers in various sections of the United States who receive all of their coal direct from the mines. These customers are pleased not only because of the many dollars they save every year, but also because of the quality of coal they are getting. Many write that they never before had coal that makes so little dust, that burns so well, leaving so few ashes. If you are a coal user—whether you use hard or soft coal, much or little—it will be greatly to your advantage to write the Bernice Coal Co., at once for prices, stating kind and quantity of coal you use.—Adv.

If you want a Flower Garden, there's nothing prettier than Tulips, but if you want food, you'll find them mighty poor eating.

Some stores offer you the "flowers" of storekeeping—and by the time your dollar helps to pay their charge account expenses, bad debt losses and this or that luxury or foolishness of store-keeping, how much of your dollar is left to buy MERCHANDISE—the VERY THING that you go to a store to GET?

All these "flowers" must be paid for. They MUST add to the PRICE of merchandise, but they can add NOTHING to its VALUE—and if you pay cash at a charge store whose "cash" prices are the same as their "charge" prices you don't get even the "flowers" that you help to pay for.

Matlock's have NONE of these things to add to their prices for you to help pay for. Aside from a few baits that others may occasionally offer, you can often save as much as 20 per cent and sometimes more on many articles you buy here. Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday there are MORE BARGAINS than usual.

There's a big crowd of people here every day who think they can't afford to waste money buying the "flowers" of storekeeping.
